

Procedures after Filing a Request

Reception and checking of the request form, and acceptance or rejection of the request

The NPA examines the qualification of the applicant and his/her request in the light of the requirements of the law. The NPA accepts the request if it is legitimate and rejects the request if it is unacceptable.

The request is reviewed in the order shown in the Flow of the Review.

Pre-acceptance screening

The NPA may conduct documentary screening before deciding to accept or reject a request to confirm whether or not the qualification the applicant and his/her request satisfy the requirements of the law.